Below are listed a large number of articles in popular magazines. As an alternative to experimental participation, you may choose any of the articles listed, read it, and write a 300-500 word reaction to the article, including, e.g., how it relates to your experience, what you thought of it, and/or why you think the author is right or wrong. It is not to be only a summary of the article or general thoughts about the topic. Each paper (assuming it shows reasonable thought) will be equivalent to one hour of experimental participation. (3 papers = 3 hours). These articles are all available on-line from a campus computer only. To set up an account to access them, do the following: (1) Go to http://online.ksu.edu, (2) Click “Create an account,” (3) Enter your name, choose a userid and password (Remember these!), (4) Enter other requested information and click “Submit,” (5) Click on “Log In” and enter userid and password and click “OK,” (6) Your current courses should appear on the screen. Click on “Class Modules” and “PSYCH 110” to find the list of articles to select from, (7) Click on the desired folder (Disorders, Perception, etc.) and then the desired article and the full text should appear on screen for you to read or print. Note: after your account is set up, follow the above procedure, skipping steps 2-4, to log on. If you have questions, check with the Hale Library staff in the Reserves or References Department for help.

CAUTION: PAPERS ARE NOT TO BE COPIED FROM THE ARTICLE, ANY INTERNET SOURCE, OR ANOTHER STUDENT'S PAPER; PLAGIARIZED PAPERS MAY RESULT IN LOSS OF CREDIT FOR THE COURSE.

Disorders

Perception

Consciousness

Personality

Brain and Behavior

Child and Adult Development

Social Psychology

Cognition